BUILDING RECORD OF MAY FOUR TIMES MORE THAN LAST

Total for Year to Date Is Double That of 1920 for Same Period

PROSPERITY INDICATOR

Statistics Verifies Claim That Glendale Is Fastest Growing
City in Country

Glendaleans who pat themselves on the back for their wisdom in selecting as a place of residence the fastest growing city in the United States get so fed up with cheering statistics they get to a point where they fail to take in their full significance. The building record is the best barometer of prosperity so far as cities are concerned and the building record which Glendale is making right now is something to make every citizen sit up and take notice.

We thought we were doing pretty well last year when the permits issued during May reached the goodly figure of $101,429, but the total to date with the record of four days to come uncovers $333,870, or practically four times the record of May, 1920.

If we compare the totals of 1920 with those of 1921, the figures are scarcely less startling. Records at the city hall show that permits aggregating $312,468 had been issued up to June 1. Records at the building department tallied yesterday for the year to date $1,592,211, almost double the number issued for the same period last year and four days remaining in the month to be heard from.

Recent large permits include the one to H. H. Parker for the apartment and store building at 201-7 West Doran street to cost $20,000 to $30,000, permit issued to Dr. Henry R. Harrower for administration building in connection with the Harrower Laboratories at 920 East Broadway to cost $47,000; permit just issued to the First National bank for remodeling the building, its present banking room, the work to be done by Contractor May; and permit to the Standard Oil Company for $15,000, covering a group of buildings for the wholesale and retail station it is establishing at Colorado and San Fernando road, where it recently secured a franchise for a railroad spur across San Fernando road, and where it is establishing storage tanks to supply the trade of the district. The retail station will be similar to the one now operated by the company at Broadway and Kenwood.

SEARCH IS CONTINUED FOR 70-YEAR-OLD BRIDE

SEATTLE, Wash., May 26.—Search is being continued by the police for Mrs. Kate Moors Mahoney, 70-year-old bride of J. E. Mahoney, 36-year-old ex-convict, who disappeared following a bridal trip to St. Paul in April. Police claim to have evidence that there was a plot overheard whereby Mahoney and two women were planning to "do away with the old woman." Mahoney is still held on a technical charge of forging his wife's name to an order for their joint safety deposit box and title to $250,000 worth of property.

A. W. Scudder First to Secure Flag

A. W. Scudder of 320 West Harvard, a veteran of the civil war and commander of N. P. Banks Post, G. A. R., was the first to receive the flag that is being given by the Glendale Press with a year's subscription. The flag is of fine bunting and measures 3x5 feet.

PRETTY WEDDING TAKES PLACE HERE

Miss Cynthia Rowland Weds
G. W. Schlichter at Her
Sister's Home

A very pretty home wedding was celebrated Wednesday evening at 7:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Van de Water at 411 North Isabel, when the sister of the hostess, Miss Cynthia E. Rowland was united to George W. Schlichter of Davis.

The Van de Waters are new comers, having reached Glendale only about five months ago. They have been here long enough, however, to acquire a beautiful home and the mother of the bride, Mrs. Celeste Rowland and daughter, recently came from Missouri that the marriage might take place here. Rev. W. E. Edmonds officiated and waxed enthusiastic over the beautiful floral decoration. The ceremony took place in an arbor of lattice work covered with vines and backed by ferns. Russell roses filled tall vases at the foot of the arbor and were entwined with vines and ferns. In the dining-room where the wedding refreshments were served following the ceremony, the chandelier above the table was twined with greenery and pink roses.

The bride who was attended by her sister, Mrs. Van de Water, as matron of honor, wore a travelling gown of midnight blue. Supporting the groom was his closest friend, Larry Hayes of Los Angeles. The only other witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. Van de Water and two children, Mr. and Mrs. A. Nimmo and son of Los Angeles, relatives of the bride, and Mrs. Rowland. The young people will make their home in Davis where Mr. Schlichter is employed as a chemical engineer.

GEORGE GRIST WANTS JURY TRIAL

George Grist, who like Deputy Sheriff Lee Coutts, was arrested for exceeding the speed limit in violation of the traffic ordinance, has also asked for a jury trial. His case has been set by Judge Lowe for June 2. He pleaded not guilty.

INTERESTING THINGS NOTED DURING A TRIP TO BISHOP

Shortage of Rain During Last Few Seasons and Owens
Lake Is Drying Up

INTAKES TO AQUEDUCT

Amount of Water Now Available Is Not as Great as Formerly

The trip which Mattison B. Jones and his party took to Bishop to institute the new chapter of Royal Arch Masons, had some interesting side features. It was Mr. Jones' first venture into that country and he found the ride of 150 miles along the aqueduct most suggestive. He says the country is very sensible of the shortage of rain the last few seasons and Owens lake is drying up rapidly.

There are two intakes to the aqueduct. The upper 63 miles is an open cement ditch and the upper, or first, intake is direct from the Owens river to the ditch. After running 63 miles in that way the water passes into a series of reservoirs 8 miles long and from these reservoirs runs into the enclosed cement intakes.

At Lone Pine, where he stopped for the night, Mr. Jones was told that the city of Los Angeles already has three wells pumping a short distance north of that community. The fact that the amount of water available now is not as great as it was originally is due in part to increased irrigation that has followed the development of the country since the valley became directly connected with Los Angeles by way of the aqueduct. The whole proposition induced capital to go into that valley and agricultural development necessarily followed. Above the first or open intake, the agriculturalists have prior rights to the water, so it naturally followed that as the agricultural interests increased the volume of the city's water became less, bearing in mind the average rainfall from year to year.

The party discovered that Bishop, which is 279 miles from Glendale, is 283 miles away by the speedometer. "I had supposed," said Mr. Jones, "that Bishop was on the side, if not on the top, of a mountain range, but both Lone Pine and Bishop

BURGLAR ATTEMPTS TO ENTER HOME

From now on, friends (or others) who visit the home of Mrs. W. L. Colton, 111 South Central avenue, after dark, will do well to give their names and state their business "muy pronto" because—

Last evening, Mrs. Colton was sitting in her living room about 10 o'clock waiting for her daughter, Miss Hazel Colton, and her houseguest, Miss Florence Brownell, of San Francisco, to come home from a picture show.

When the girls came onto the porch they saw a crouching figure fumbling with the doorknob of the outside door of the dining room. Thinking it was Mrs. Colton playing a practical joke on them, they began to jeer and deride the supposed effort to frighten them. Mrs. Colton, meanwhile, heard the girls and decided it was a hoax, that they were trying to play a joke on her. Finally, however, Miss Colton became alarmed and convinced that it was not her mother, demanded that the intruder give an account of himself. Just then Mrs. Colton opened the door, when the stranger, pulling his hat down over his face, attempted to step inside, whereupon Miss Colton drove him forth with her umbrella while her mother grabbed a milk bottle from the porch and the two women drove him from the place and around the corner. Miss Brownell stopping in the house long enough to phone the police department.

"First one policeman, then an automobile load of them, appeared on the scene," reports Mrs. Colton, "with all sorts of flashlights and everything to catch a burglar, but he had got away by that time."

Mrs. Colton phoned the happening to her husband at his studio in Hollywood, and he sent her this morning a trustworthy shooting-iron, which she says she knows how to use—hence the warning at the beginning of this story.

ANNUAL BANQUET IS TO BE GIVEN ON JUNE 6

Burbank Choral Club Is On Program—Concert Will Follow Dinner

EXPECT MANY GUESTS

All Reservations Must Be Made by June 4—Comes at End of Music Week

Elaborate preparations are in progress for the annual banquet of the Glendale Music Club, to be held on the evening of Monday, June 6, at the First Methodist church, corner of Kenwood and Wilson.

The banquet will be followed by a concert, careful plans for which are nearly completed.

The banquet will take place promptly at 6:15 in order to begin the big concert in the auditorium upstairs at 8 p. m. Many distinguished guests are expected to attend the banquet and reservations for club members only will be made through the banquet chairman, Mrs. Colin Cable, phone 442-W, until Wednesday, June 1. After that, reservations will be taken by Mrs. Cable for anybody who wishes to attend the banquet. All reservations must be made by Saturday, June 4. Banquet tickets are $1 each.

The ladies of the church are serving the banquet under the direction of Mrs. C. D. Lusby, a fact which assures the success of the affair. The concert following the banquet promises to be unusually interesting and inspiring. Anyone who reserves banquet tickets or phones reservations in will be held responsible for them whether they attend the banquet or not.

Mr. Wesley Kuhnle, a member of the Glendale Music Club and a resident of Glendale, also a member of the faculty of the Los Angeles Conservatory, will give three splendid organ solos. The Burbank Choral Club of mixed voices with two splendid solo singers, now residents of Burbank, will appear also. Critics have pronounced the Burbank Choral Club to be a splendidly well-balanced chorus.

This will come on the closing night of Music Week, also, and Glendale music lovers will certainly not be disappointed in this great program, the details of which will be given in the columns of the Daily Press later.

SHAKESPEARE SECTION PRESENTED A HIGHLY TALENTED PRODUCTION YESTERDAY

ORGANIZATIONS JOIN IN MEMORIAL DAY CELEBRATION

Burbank Residents Promise to Make it Biggest Day in History of City

The Decoration Day celebration at Burbank promises to be the biggest affair ever attempted in that city. Patriotic, fraternal and civic bodies, and Women's Club and the merchants and citizens have joined forces to make that day one to be remembered in the annals of the city. Several hundred dollars have been subscribed by various patriotic people and firms toward the success of the movement. The city will have a general "clean up" on Saturday, when the Chamber of Commerce, the Moreland factory employees and numerous individuals will go over the city and remove all traces of any unsightly objects on the streets and parkways along the line of march.

The celebration will start at 9 a. m. with exercises on the steps of the grammar school. Appropriate music will be played and the invocation will be offered by Rev. Father Legu-yader.

The speaker of the day, Rev. Thos. F. Stevenson of the Presbyterian church, will be introduced by W. A. Blanchard, Major Yale, commander of the Burbank Post, American Legion, will present a memorial medal to Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Colton, parents of Harry Colton, one of Burbank's honored dead. Following a flag salute by the Boy Scouts, the parade will form and proceed through the streets of Burbank to waiting autos and they to Grand View memorial park, where the Grand Army of the Republic veterans will conduct the exercises. Practically every organization will be represented in the parade. "Curly" Eagle and 20 of his picturesque cowboys will lend a touch of color to the occasion, followed by the G. A. R., American Legion, National Guard, Elks, Masons, Boy Scouts, etc. Gregory's Royal Marine band of 30 pieces will furnish music for the marchers and 20 grammar school girls will appear as flower bearers.

Preparations have been made by the park officials to make this the best celebration in its history. A platform of large dimensions has been erected and seating arrangements made for a large number of people. A symbolic mound has been made for the carrying out of the exercises and everything done for the convenience of the participants and the success of the occasion.

Don't forget to register before May 28.

Mrs. May Howard Ralston, an Actress of Ability, Portrays Character of Rosalind in a Scene From "As You Like It"—Little Margot Buxton Delights Audience With a "Jester's" Dance—Program Opened With Miss Gertrude Champlain

In a pretty stage setting, enhanced with bright blossoms interspersed with the soft green of ferns and feathery pepper boughs, the Shakespeare section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club presented to a large and appreciative audience at the Masonic Temple yesterday afternoon a most delightful program consisting of the banishment scene from "As You Like It," two scenes from "The Taming of the Shrew," and the sleep-walking scene from Macbeth.

Costumes were chronologically correct as well as beautiful, a fact which added much to the completeness of the affair.

Margaret Brown and Lois Naudain were the pretty pages, and Esther Ralston was the charming herald who announced the program.

Mrs. May Howard Ralston was an ideal Rosalind, tall and graceful and sweet, and she read her lines with a perfection that proved her an actress of ability; Mrs. Colin Cable was a delightful Celia, and her distinct enunciation and sympathetic interpretation of her part were much enjoyed; Mrs. H. L. Clotworthy interpreted her part with remarkable fidelity to the character of the stern duke who banishes Rosalind, and Mrs. Holbrook was the moody jester, Touchstone, to life.

Mrs. Gertrude Montgomery as the bluff and blustering Petruchio in "The Taming of the Shrew," brought down the house, and managed most successfully the taming of the shrewish Kate whom Mrs. Calvin Whiting impersonated most faithfully, both in her shrewish moods and her later ones as the sweet and chastened wife; Mrs. Maud Jones was a capital Hortensio, and Mrs. Ida Von Oven played Grumpio with intelligence and spirit; Mrs. Benjamin Holbrook as the browbeaten tailor was also a great success, and Mrs. E. D. Yard interpreted the venerable Vincentio with dignity proper to the character.

Mrs. May Howard Ralston as Lady Macbeth in the sleepwalking scene held the audience enthralled; her reading of this wonderful scene was inimitable. Mrs. Cable gave a sympathetic interpretation to the part of the gentlewoman and Mrs. C. L. Canfield interpreted the part of the doctor.

MORE PETITIONS FOR ANNEXATION

Admission Sought by Territory West of Pacific to Grand View

The Viola-avenue district in Casa Verdugo is circulating a petition asking for annexation to Glendale. It is a small territory including portions of Stocker, Valley View and Lorraine streets.

Another petition will be filed with the board of trustees tonight asking for the annexation of the territory west of Pacific avenue to the Grand View district. About 60 names are attached to the petition, which is headed by Kate S. Black, who recently purchased an acre for a home place, and following hers are the names of other well-known residents of the territory—Mrs. C. G. Woods and son, Daniel Campbell, Alexander Mitchell and others.

Sentiment in favor of annexation has been steadily increasing in that district for several years. Residents there have come to the conclusion it is the only way to settle their water problems. That is the principal reason why they are seeking annexation, though there are other reasons too.

It becomes increasingly evident that America can't desert the old world and get her deserts.

Glendale Music Club In Drive for 200 Members

Teams and Leaders Have Been Named, Winning Team To Be Entertained by Mrs. Mattison B. Jones—Good
Music Is Standard Set by Club

The board of directors of the Glendale Music Club, at a recent meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, voted to put on a drive for 200 subscribing members for the club.

The packed houses at each concert given by the club proved that Glendale citizens are ready for such an organization, and the board members feel that the business and professional men as well as the musicians of the community should recognize an opportunity to form a permanent music association which will be a civic asset to our growing city.

Santa Ana has a music association of over 1200 members! This has done much to interest and hold new citizens in the community.

Fresno has one of 1600 members and each year it has great difficulty in finding auditoriums to seat its members for concerts. Redlands, San Diego and nearly all our smaller cities now have thriving musical associations, that bring to their cities the best artists available, as well as co-operating in all community affairs for the betterment of music in the city.

Statement by Mrs. Jones

"The relation of a musical organization toward the community involves responsibilities and duties, but the real problem is cooperation," said Mrs. Jones, president of the club, in an interview this morning.

"No citizen can hold off from community interests and count himself or herself a faithful citizen of our great republic, nor can any live musical organization refuse to cooperate in community movements and be counted 100 per cent loyal to the club, to the community or to the state and nation. The betterment and upbuilding of the nation is done through the cities and towns first, by a community spirit and action. Some one has said: 'A nation will never rise above the aspirations of its average citizens.' If America is to be nationally great as a musical center it is to the

Glendale Residents Are Urged To Answer Duty

If You Value Your Citizenship You Will Register Before Friday Night—An Important Election Will Be Held in This City on June 28

With an important election in the offing and the registration of voters closing at midnight on Saturday, May 28, only two days hence, Glendale is confronted with the apathy of many of its citizens in the matter of registration, and will no doubt suffer in the matter of voting on election day by a great number of registered voters.

Political lethargy in American cities is proverbial. Even where issues of public moment are involved and men and women of voting habit show uncommon interest in the outcome there is visible the activity of but a minority of the citizenship. The majority mass plays the part of a rather interested or possibly an indifferent audience.

In this condition we have one of the milder but most stubborn diseases of democracy. The cure for it is yet to be discovered. Preaching about it or railing at and condemning lard citizenship apparently does little good. Indifference to the most elementary duties of free citizenship is a serious flaw in the American political character.

There are various classes of citizens eligible to the franchise who neglect to vote. There is the self-righteous individual who never casts a ballot for the reason that "politics" to him is a "dirty pool" which he professes to abhor. He is never satisfied with his government, his state or his city. To him everything is wrong and he has no inclination to assist in righting anything by way of the ballot box. That kind of a citizen ought to be compelled to pay a double share of taxes in lieu of jail sentence.

Then there is the "forgetter" who intends to vote, but fails to reach the polls. Still a third class of non-voters is made up of busy business men who think they cannot get away from business long enough to attend to their civic duties at a distant polling place. There is still a fourth class composed of voters who go on the assumption that what the majority

Palace Grand

"The Forbidden Thing," playing today at the Palace Grand, is perhaps the most humanly interesting and absorbing photoplay of the season. It is an Allan Dwan picture, and the fine hand of the director is seen throughout its several reels of entertainment. Lighting effects are excellent, while the technical details, the atmosphere, types and all that enters into the picture are virtually perfect from every standpoint.

The scenes of the story are laid in the Cape Cod fishing district, and all the human joys and sorrows of a happy or unhappy people run with astounding interest from the first reel to the last.

The work of Mr. Kirkwood, Miss Eddy, Miss Manon and Mr. Baggott is especially effective. The central theme of the story revolves around the eternal contest of the physical woman against the spiritual woman for the possession of a man's soul.

Glendale Theater

"Madonnas and Men," which opened a four-day run at the Glendale theater yesterday, is one of the masterpieces of the year.

Undoubtedly this picture will attract great crowds to the Glendale; for its premier presentation in Los Angeles, a Broadway theater was leased for an indefinite run.

This story of ancient and modern life was produced by the Jans Pictures, Inc., in a setting of magnificence. It is said by those who have seen it to be one of the pictures which stand as a justification of the motion picture art.

Mme. Clement's feature number on the great organ is the Intermezzo from Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana."

STUDIO NEWS AND GOSSIP

The filming of "The Hound of the Tankervilles," Clever Comedies first two-reeler, adapted from Ellis Butler's magazine stories, "Philo Gubb, The Correspondence School Detective," has been completed. Victor Potel has the title role and Otis Harlan is a member of the supporting cast. The general manager of Clever Comedies recently said: "It is the one aim of Clever Comedies to present to the screen the type of picture that carries world-wide appeal—films that will help destroy censorship, take the 'dust' out of industry and give the exhibitor ten to one value for his money."

Harold Lloyd is accused of being an expert sleight-of-hand performer. Colleen Moore used to dream of a concert career as a pianist.

Lloyd Hughes, Ince star, calls Bisbee, Ariz., his home town.

"A Question of Honor," a story of romance by Ruth Cross, will be Anita Stewart's next picture. It will be her fourth offering under her present Louis B. Mayer contract. The other pictures are "Playthings of Destiny," "The Invisible Fear" and "The Price of Happiness." A scenic feature of "A Question of Honor" will be an enormous dam, representing a remarkable engineering feat and used to irrigate hundreds of thousands of acres.

Wesley Ruggles was a Keystone cop before he became an ace director. Marie Walcamp, former Universal serial queen, is now a member of Lois Weber's producing company.

Molly Malone, Goldwyn actress noted for her clear complexion, eats a raw carrot every day.

Betty Compson, Paramount star, current picture, "At the End of the World," will have a lighthouse for a scenic and action feature. It will be constructed on the rockiest part of the Southern California coast. Some very dramatic situations will be shot in this set—"In the sound of waves and winds which whip the craggy coast." Milton Sills is playing opposite the star.

Virginia Valli, who is enacting the leading feminine role in "A Trip to Paradise," starring Bert Lytell recently had numerous thrills while taking part in scenes for the picture. She and Bert Lytell occupied a roller coaster at a Southern California beach resort and traveled at a higher speed than any photographer ever attained before in the making of a picture. Eighteen trips were taken before the director was satisfied.

Kate Lester, "grand dame of the screen," loathes rain and takes home every stray dog she sees.

Jack Holt served an apprenticeship as a cowboy on an Arizona ranch.

Jack Gilbert, who appears in George Loane Tucker's "Ladies Must Live," is a graduate of the Hitchcock Military Academy at San Rafael.

Ann May, who has an important role in Oliver Morosco's "The Half Breed," says that "starring these days is like balancing on a bubble. I am ambitious, but I hope not crazy. I would rather play in a smaller part in something that was twisted and stilted as a special exploitation vehicle. It's a wise public these days, and a foolish maiden that tries to deceive it."

Jack Perrin, known for his many appearances in Universal pictures, has been engaged by Metro to support Viola Dana in "The Match Breaker."

Rex Ingram, Metro director, is filming a Balzac story which will have the screen title of "The Conquering Power." Practically the entire cast of "The Four Horsemen" has been engaged for this picture.

"The Black Cap" is the title of Carmel Myers' current Universal picture. It is a stirring story of the underworld. Jack O'Brien is playing opposite the star.

CIRCULATE PETITION TO OBTAIN STRIP OF GROUND

To Be Utilized for Park Purposes at Broadway and Central Avenue

A petition is now being circulated for the improvement of Broadway and Central avenue to cut off the jog that is such an impediment to traffic. Those who are urging this matter are anxious that there should be as little delay as possible, hence the petitions which will be taken to every citizen in the proposed assessment district. If enough signatures are obtained to offset the 15 per cent who might otherwise protest, proceedings can be started very soon, and the time that might be consumed in hearings will be saved. For the information of tax payers, the following letters from City Manager Watson to the chairman of the committee in charge of circulating the petitions, are published, showing the estimated cost of the improvement.

J. S. Thompson, 445 West Broadway, Glendale Calif.

Dear Mr. Thompson—Complying with your request, we enclose herewith copies of petitions to the board of trustees requesting that legal proceedings be taken to acquire that certain triangular parcel of ground at the southwest corner of Central avenue and Broadway indicated on map attached to such petition, provided that Broadway is opened and extended along the southwest line of this triangular plot as proposed, and as also set forth on map attached to petition.

The committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce at our request to serve with the city engineer to appraise the property proposed to be taken for park purposes in this connection has estimated the cost of that portion of these lots respectively as follows:

Lot 6, corner lot, $5400, for that portion that is to be taken for park purposes and $600 for that portion that is to be taken for Broadway opening, making a total of $6000 for the lot.

Lot 5, $3800 for that portion that will be taken for park purposes and $1700 for that portion required for the Broadway opening, making a total of $5500.

Lot 4, $2250 for that portion to be taken for park purposes and $5050 for that portion to be acquired for the Broadway opening, making a total of $7300.

The total estimated value of that portion of these three lots proposed to be acquired for park purposes is $11,450. We consider this a conservative valuation of this property and while we use it for the purpose of this estimate it should be considered as conservative and consideration should be given to the fact that all this property it as the present time increasing in value.

There are 495 lots included in the district proposed to be assessed to acquire this park site. The proposed assessment district as outlined on the map attached, includes all the lots fronting on both sides of Orange street and Central avenue between the north line of Colorado street and the south line of Lexington drive, together with those fronting on the north side of Colorado street, the south side of Broadway and both sides of Harvard street, within this district. Also the lots fronting on Hawthorne street, Ivy street, Broadway and Wilson avenue between Central avenue and Pacific avenue, including lots fronting on the west side of Pacific avenue.

An average assessment of $27 a lot within this district would produce $13,365, which is $1915 in excess of the amount estimated. A large portion of this, however, will be required to pay the cost of legal proceedings. It is probable that these assessments will be graduated to some extent so that the assessments on the property immediately adjacent to the park will be larger than $27 per lot and of course, those nearer the outer edges of the district will be proportionately less.

It must be distinctly understood that this is not an official assessment. It is merely a general estimate based on the estimated value of the lots as set forth above.

FRANK CHASE IS A WELCOME VISITOR

Frank Chase, a former resident of this city, a jovial editor and printer, popular member of the Elks' lodge, came up from his San Diego county ranch this week to visit his mother, who is recuperating from an operation. She is so far recovered that she and her husband and daughter will go with Mr. Chase when he returns to the ranch. He is accompanied by his young son, Fred Chase, who is having the time of his young life renewing acquaintance with his boy chums.

EFFORT TO BE MADE TO OPEN BROADWAY WEST OF CENTRAL

City Engineer Estimates the Value of Property To Be Acquired at $21,700

Upon request of J. S. Thompson, formerly president of the city trustees, City Manager Watson, forwarded the following communication, which is self-explanatory:

May 25, 1921.

J. S. Thompson, 448 West Broadway, Glendale, Calif.

Dear Mr. Thompson—Complying with your request we enclose herewith copies of petitions to the board of trustees requesting that legal proceedings be taken for the opening and extension of Broadway west from the west line of Central avenue extending southwesterly to a junction with Broadway approximately 200 feet west of the west line of Central avenue as set forth on map attached to petitions.

The committee appointed by the chamber of commerce to assist city engineer in appraising property required has estimated its value at $21,700. This we consider a conservative valuation. It should also be considered in this connection that this property at the present time is increasing in valuation. The district to be assessed for this improvement is also set forth on map attached to petition. It includes all frontage on Brand boulevard, Orange street and Central avenue between the north line of Colorado street and a line drawn parallel with and 150 feet north of Wilson avenue.

There are 467 lots in this district. An average assessment of $50 per lot within this district would produce $23,350. This is $1,650 in excess of the estimate. This would probably be all required, however, for legal proceedings. The assessments would no doubt be uniform. It is probable that some of the frontage on Brand boulevard and Broadway in the business center would be assessed at the rate of $100 per lot, whereas the assessments on the side streets within the district would probably average $25. It should be clearly understood, however, that this is not an official assessment and that the figures given are only for the purpose of giving a general idea and not to set forth specific assessments on any of the lots included in the district.

It also should be understood that the figures given above are based on the valuation of this property as estimated by committee, which valuation of course, might be considerably higher when fixed by the court appraisers. It should also be understood that these figures do not include any allowance for paving. The paving will be handled under separate proceedings and additional assessments will be levied therefor. The district for the improvement, however, will not necessarily be the same as the district for the opening.

Have you registered? Do it NOW.

ALSO CLAIMS FLAG

Jack Nelson, the landscape gardener, living at 1230 East Broadway, came in bright and early this morning with his $2.75 for advance subscription and claimed a flag. He said he had wanted one for some time and had determined to buy it, but when he saw the announcement in yesterday's Press of the generous flag offer he decided to take advantage of it, especially as he had already determined to take the new daily.

There are flags waiting for other patriots who desire to take advantage of this great offer, but the number is limited, so do not delay.

WILLIAM A. HOWE OF GLENDALE THEATER SUCCESSFUL

Consummates Deal Meaning Much to People of Glendale

Friends of William A. Howe, manager of the Glendale theater, are congratulating him on the consummation of a business connection that means much to the people of Glendale as well as to the theater itself.

This is the affiliation of this theater with the West Coast Theaters, Inc. Through this important connection the Glendale theater becomes a First National franchise house, a fact which gives assurance that the best in high-class motion pictures will be shown exclusively by Mr. Howe's beautiful playhouse. Mr. Howe is indeed to be congratulated on this alliance whereby the Glendale theater becomes a link in the chain of the strongest organization of its kind in the southwest, for the West Coast Theaters, Inc., already includes in its service 46 of the finest theaters in Southern California, including the Kinema and Ambassador in Los Angeles, and the great playhouse to be built at once at the corner of Broadway and Mercantile place, Los Angeles. All pictures shown in these houses will be shown in the Glendale theater.

The owners of the Glendale theater, Dr. and Mrs. Goodno, built and equipped this beautiful, commodious playhouse, completed seven months ago, with a definite purpose and a high aim: To give to Glendale people a place of amusement second to none in the state, where, under the most favorable conditions, they might enjoy good music, clean entertainment and the best in motion pictures.

Though Mr. Howe has been temporarily handicapped in this ambition, which he shared with the builders of the theater, by not being able to obtain the pictures he knew he must have in order to realize this high ideal, nevertheless, he has never altered his purpose or lowered his ideals. Now that he has made the Glendale theater a First National franchise house, his ambition, deferred of necessity for a time, at length reaches its fulfillment.

average citizen in every community that the musical organization must appeal in a practical way.

"It is not only the desire of the Glendale Music Club to set a standard in the community for good music and bring it to all citizens who are willing to subscribe the small amount of $2 admission fee and $3 yearly dues, payable semi-annually in October and February, but also to foster the art already existing in our community and to bring to the attention of our citizens the value of music as a business and a civic asset. The club also aims to assist artists in the community and to encourage teachers and pupils.

"The Junior and Juvenile Auxiliaries of the club have already awakened keen interest in the young people of Glendale, and each auxiliary now has over 60 members all interested in a wholesome, happy cause.

"The Glendale Music Club is a part of the National Federation of Music Clubs and one of the chief aims of the federation is to make America the music center of the world; another to make music useful in the civil life of America; another, to develop and promote American musical art.

"Know that thy highest dwells at home, there are and loyal inspiration spring; if thou would'st touch the universal heart, of thine own country sing," quoted Mrs. Jones, in conclusion.

FIRST M. E. CHURCH GIVES RECEPTION

Many New Members Received Recently Are Welcomed With Function

A delightful reception for the 80 or more new members who united with the First Methodist church last Sunday and the Sunday before, took place in the parlors of the church Wednesday evening, following the prayer service. It included a short miscellaneous program of entertainment consisting of Hawaiian guitar numbers by Mrs. Rehberg and her little niece, readings by Mrs. Alice Payne whistling solos by Miss Isabel Isgrig and vocal solos by Miss Dorothy Peart.

Brief addresses of welcome and greeting were made by Mrs. C. H. Starkey, who had general charge of the affair, and by Rev. Clyde M. Crist, pastor of the church. Following those old members had an opportunity to meet the new ones in a social half hour during which punch and wafers were served.

Mrs. Flora Hamilton, Mrs. C. R. Lushy, Mrs. E. L. Starkey and Misses Janice and Arlette Woodworth presiding at the punch bowls.

ARE YOU GOING TO BIG RECEPTION TONIGHT?

Believing that the work of entertaining should not fall on a few willing "Marthas," the membership of Glendale Presbyterian church has divided itself into four divisions, founded on an alphabetical arrangement of the membership list.

This evening the division F to K, will give a reception to the 164 new members who were received into the church last Sunday. An elaborate program of music, readings and several novel features has been arranged, and refreshments will be served at its close.

want will be good enough and "one vote isn't going to change the result anyhow."

Theoretically, ever qualified elector should vote. By neglecting the ballot the citizen is as certainly a slacker as is the man or woman who declines any other responsibility imposed by his government.

Any one who has registered since January, 1920, and has not moved out of the precinct in which he registered, need not re-register. If he last registered in 1919, or, if he registered since then but has moved from the precinct in which he registered, he must re-register, at the chamber of commerce, or at Roberts and Echols' drug store or at 104 South Glendale avenue.

ROMMEL COMPANY SECURES CONTRACT

The Rommel Construction company has been awarded the contract for the Miles avenue grammar school in Huntington Park. It is a $41,500 job. It is of one story and basement, concrete and brick construction with plaster exterior. Excavation work has already been started by Peter L. Ferry. This is the first big job the Rommel company has undertaken since the manager returned from the east a year ago, and it is glad to get into the game again.

Mrs. Mabel Sternberg arrived Wednesday from Canada to care for her mother-in-law, Mrs. John Sternberg, who is recovering from an operation. The husband of the invalid is Professor Sternberg, the fossil hunter, who is now in Arizona. He recently purchased a home at 3015 Ross street.

EUROPE FOR TOURISTS

Reports from Paris indicate that Europe is making ready for a busy season of American tourists. An advance story from the French capital says Europe will be vastly changed from last season, when the scars of war were in evidence on all sides. Hotels have been redecorated, roadways remade and transportation improved to take care of an unusual number of visitors. The advantage of the American dollar over European money will tend to reduce the expenses of the American traveler, although from the European viewpoint prices are woefully high on the Continent. Needless to say, Europe for years to come will offer every inducement possible to attract American tourists. Strange though it may seem on first thought, Europe's debt to America will be paid in no mean proportion by money spent by Americans traveling abroad. Many million American dollars, converted into foreign exchange, will be scattered in the capitals and other cities of interest by Americans during the next decade.

General Obregon, president of Mexico, is evidently making good his intention to lift the Mexican peon out of a state of ignorance and squalor by opening the door of free education to him. In the first 40 days of 1921 in the one state of Chihuahua alone 43 new schools were opened. Teachers' salaries have been increased, according to the Mexican Review, and a complete reorganization of the school system is taking place.

WOMAN'S COZY CORNER

By JOSEPHINE FRANCE

The following recipes illustrate some of the many dainty and novel ways in which canned fish may be served. The recipes are intended to be of service to those readers who may feel that they have neglected fish in the past and who would like to have it more frequently on the table in the future.

SALMON PATTIES

One-pound can pink or chum salmon, one and one-half cups of milk, three level tablespoons flour, one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, rich pastry, one cup diced celery, coaxed tender, three tablespoons butter, dash paprika.

Prepare rich pastry and bake in hot oven on inverted gem pans. Prick sides and bottom to avoid shrinkage. Cool. Drain liquor from salmon and reserve for sauce. Remove bone and flake salmon. Melt butter, stir in flour, and when blended add gradually, stirring constantly, the milk mixed with the salmon liquor and one-fourth cup of water in which celery was cooked. Add salmon, celery and seasonings. Reheat the pastry shells and pour hot salmon mixture in them. Serve at once. If desired, green peas may also be added.

MOLDED FISH SALAD

Separate into flakes a half pound of canned tuna or salmon. Mix carefully with one cup of diced celery, one tablespoon of chopped green pepper, two tablespoons of chopped olives and three-fourths cup of cooked salad dressing. Add two teaspoons of vinegar and season with salt and pepper. Soak two tablespoons of gelatin in one-fourth cup of cold water for five minutes. Dissolve by placing over hot water, then stir into fish mixture. Turn into small wet molds and set aside to chill. Serve on lettuce or watercress and garnish with celery tips, slices of stuffed olives and pieces of green pepper, pimiento or parsley.

SALMON A LA CREOLE

Cook in two heaping tablespoons butter one finely chopped green pepper, one minced onion, and one chopped tomato (or one-half cup of canned tomatoes); add liquid drained from salmon with enough water added to it to make one cup, stir until the pepper and onion are soft; add one can of pink or chum salmon, drained and minced. Simmer and serve hot.

The vogue for ribbons is in nowise lessened. This would indicate that women are less changeable in their taste in dress than they are reputed to be. The continuation of ribbon trimming is not the only indication of this constancy. There are many others. A very striking example is the long life of the chemise dress. In fact, all that is best in present-day fashions shows very clearly that women like the suitable and beautiful in their clothes and that designs having these qualities are the only ones to which they adhere for any length of time. Many of the sudden changes in fashions have been due to the fact that the new things brought out, while striking, were quite unlovely.

To be in keeping with the styles in dresses, which are stripped of all complications of design and fussy trimming, hats too, must be plain. This is not a new idea in millinery, for it is a long time since we have seen anything of the pompous-looking hat at one time known as a dress hat. In fact, modistes might almost claim that couturiers have followed their lead in the matter of simplicity.

Sandwich Bread

Two tablespoons shortening, one-third cup molasses, one and a half teaspoons salt, one cup scalded milk, one cup water, one and a half cups bread crumbs, one yeast cake, quarter cup lukewarm water, one cup chopped candied orange peel, one and a half cups graham flour, three cups bread flour, one cup nut meats.

Put shortening, molasses, salt, scalded milk and water in mixing bowl. When lukewarm, add dry bread crumbs which have been rolled fine or put through the food chopper, yeast cake dissolved in lukewarm water and candied orange peel chopped fine. Then add graham flour and bread flour and knead gently, adding as little flour as possible to prevent sticking. Let rise until double its bulk, knead again, adding nut meats cut in small pieces. Shape in loaves, put in baking powder tins or bread pans, let rise again to double its bulk, and bake in moderate oven.

Series of Articles on Patents, Inventions, Etc.

By WILLIAM C. CUTLER of Glendale, California

GENERAL INFORMATION

Q.—Prolonging monopoly. Can the owner of a patent do so by taking a subsequent patent for an improvement?

A.—No. The subsequent patent does not extend the life of a prior patent. In a commercial sense it may aid but any one can manufacture an article covered by an expired patent.

Q.—Development of another's idea. If you originate an idea and a mechanic develops it, to whom does the invention belong?

A.—To you, not to him, if you furnish him details for its construction.

Q.—Development of supplementary device. If a mechanic, in developing an invention discovers the desirability of some supplementary device to operate with it—but not an essential element—and devises means to accomplish it, to whom does the invention of the supplementary device belong?

A.—To him, not to you.

Q.—Purchase prior to patent. Has the owner of an article bought before patent is issued, the right to use it after issue, if patentee objects?

A.—Yes. Q.—Deceased inventor. Can the legal representatives of a deceased or insane person obtain a patent?

A.—Yes.

Q.—Assignee? Can the patent be issued to an?

A.—Yes.

Q.—Manufacturing under patent? Is it wise not to manufacture?

A.—No. Because the courts look with disfavor on what are termed cold-storage patents. It makes it more difficult to establish infringement and to collect damages.

Q.—Claims important. What is the most important part of a patent?

A.—The claims.

Q.—Manufacturing obligatory. Is a patentee obliged to manufacture under his patent?

A.—Not in the United States, unless he chooses to do so.

Q.—Inventor's name. Can the manufacturer who has bought or leased a patent use it without the inventor's consent?

A.—No.

Q.—Making non-patented inventions. Can a person make, use and vend same if he does not desire to patent it?

A.—Yes; if it does not infringe (encroach upon) some prior patent.

Q.—Invention of another. Can a person make and use another's invention for his own use, if he does not sell it?

A.—No. Notwithstanding the prevalent idea to the contrary.

Q.—Can a person use a patented

A.—No. Not even if he receives it as a gift.

Q.—Marking patented articles. Must patented articles be marked patented?

A.—The law states it is a "duty" which devolves upon the manufacturer to mark the article itself. If this cannot be done, fixing a label to it, or if this cannot be readily accomplished, placing a mark on the container. What should appear is the word "patented" with the day and year of the grant.

Q.—Failure to grant. What is the consequence?

A.—In a case of infringement, no damages can be recovered except on proof that the defendant was notified of the infringement and continued to make, sell, or use the article so patented. In seeking preliminary injunctions it is disadvantageous not to have patented articles so marked.

Q.—Marking omitted. Is the marking sometimes intentionally omitted?

A.—Yes. For example, when a concern does not want to draw the attention of a competitor to the fact that patents are being taken out on a certain class of apparatus.

Q.—False marking. Is there a penalty for marking an unpatented article "patented?"

A.—Yes. Not less than one hundred dollars for each offense.

Q.—Marking in special cases. Can a patented article continue to be marked "patented" after the patent has expired or been declared invalid?

A.—Yes.

Q.—Why?

A.—Because while a patent can be declared void or invalid it cannot be cancelled after it has once been issued.

Q.—If a patentee believes himself to be the original inventor, is his patent rendered void because it has been known or used in a foreign country?

A.—Not necessarily. If it has not been patented or described in a printed publication. Even then, it must be clearly disclosed.

Q.—Foreigners. Can foreigners obtain patents under the same privileges as citizens of the United States?

A.—Yes, if the inventor resides in a country which affords similar privileges to citizens of the United States.

Q.—"International convention."

What is it?

A.—An agreement among nations for a reciprocal legal protection of patents.

Q.—Void or invalid. Are patents ever so declared after they have been granted?

A.—Yes. It is not unusual for patents to be declared void or invalid by the court upon the termination of a patent suit.

Q.—For what reasons?

A.—Discovery of prior use and "anticipation" shown by prior patents.

are in the Owens river valley, which is about 150 miles long and of width varying from 15 to 25 miles. These two towns, along with Independence, the county seat of Inyo county, and Big Pine, are settlements resting on the bosom of this great valley. Instead of a highway leading over the mountains or along the mountain, though it occasionally crosses some low divides, it is in the main a valley road.

"One surprise of the trip was Mt. Whitney. The geography stated when I was a boy that it was 14,444 feet high, but it is now declared to be 14,502 feet. It does not stand out from its fellow peaks like Mt. Shasta but is closely surrounded by three or four other peaks that are but a few hundred feet lower in altitude. This means that the Sierra Nevada range of mountains that bounds this great Owens river valley on the west is very high and commanding. In Mt. Whitney, Inyo county has the highest mountain in the United States and she also has the lowest depth in the United States, Death Valley. I told at Bishop that some party in Death Valley are 399 feet below level which, when added to the foot altitude of Mt. Whitney, a marvelous range of 14,802 between the extremes in the States."

SHAKESPEARE SECTION

tor in a manner that showed painstaking study.

The entire acts were given by Mrs. Laura Stevenson Spang, whose beautiful voice is always heard with delight by Glendale audiences. Her accompaniments were played by Mrs. Le Roy Bosserman. Between the first two plays she sang "Morning," by Christener, and before the third play a beautiful, tragic little song that displayed to advantage the dramatic possibilities of her voice. She graciously responded to an encore with the tender, ever popular, "In the Dark, In the Dew."

"Margot Buxton, the little dance artist, who is fast winning recognition by her marked talent, delighted the audience with a merry "Jester's Dance."

Miss Gertrude Champlain opened the program with three waltzes from Henry the Eighth, which were played in her own inimitable manner.

The Shakespeare section was fortunate in having the assistance of Mrs. Ralston, who has worked untiringly for the success of the festival. She has been called for a part in the Pilgrimage Play to be given this summer in El Camino Real canyon in Hollywood, and is also assistant to Garnett Holmes, director, who prizes her work highly.

Esther Ralston, another gifted member of this family of artists, is to be co-starred with Pete Morrison in a Cliff Smith production now under way.

Tea and cake were served by members of the Shakespeare section in costume, at the close of the entertainment.

Appeared before me this 17th day of May, 1921, J. W. Usilton, general manager of the Glendale Publishing and Printing Company, who deposes and says that the above is a true statement of the circulation of The Glendale Daily Press on the date above named.

In the address given by Mr. Walton of Highland Park, to the school children of Intermediate on Tuesday, he used a cartoon of a boy which he burned before the scholars to illustrate the destructive power of tobacco upon their bodies. Mr. Walton gave a very practical talk and had the close attention of the children in both the Intermediate and Cerritos avenue schools. The talk was given under the direction of the local W. C. T. They Were Convinced!

Why was it that practically every single person who went with us to the Metcalf-Hinckley properties at Huntington Beach has bought stock in the Company? There can only be one explanation. They saw the whole proposition for themselves—and they have become Metcalf-Hinckley stockholders simply for the reason that they saw how THEY could make money through Metcalf-Hinckley shares!

Perhaps you have already seen our derrick up—seen the swift activity that is making good on our promise of production within a few weeks' time. If you have, well and good. We know you will lose no time in getting your stock. But if you haven't, then its time to give this chance at oil-money your thoughtful consideration.

Oil Money Comes from Oil Ground

That's What Metcalf-Hinckley Has!

There's Metcalf-Hinckley's 80-acre tract on the same fold as Union's 90 acres—on the rich northern slope of the field, where the big oil geysers are coming in in one-two-three order! Then there are our drilling sites in the cream location of the field—our derrick in the same block where Pantages-Huntington's baler swings black with oil every time it rises from the hole. There are our locations right across the street—where we can draw from hundreds of acres of restricted property!

These are the things that are MAKING Metcalf-Hinckley—and that will create profits for you who come in now!

Step Out YOURSELF

for Huntington Beach Oil Profits!

You've heard Hugh Grant's story—how he became wealthy overnight when a well (and an independent company's well, by the way) came in on his one-acre property! You know that scores of others have drawn oil-wealth from the wonder sands of the Huntington Beach Field. Then why don't you go after YOUR share of that oil-money that Huntington Beach holds waiting for you?

We've made it easy for you to secure an interest in oil activity and oil progress. We've told you Metcalf-Hinckley's organization and swift march toward oil. Now it's all UP TO YOU!

REMEMBER

There isn't a great deal of stock left to sell out of our limited allotment—it has been going fast, and no wonder. Better get in touch with us today—by phone or a personal call if possible.

Glendale Theatre

To Our Friends and Patrons
THE PEOPLE OF GLENDALE
Whom It Concerns

Neither Glendale Theatre, nor any part of its property, either Real or Personal, which is owned outright and solely by us, has been sold, is for sale, nor has the sale of it, or any part of it, at any time been contemplated.

Glendale Theatre was built with a purpose—that purpose being to furnish the PEOPLE OF GLENDALE with a place of amusement SECOND TO NONE IN THE STATE, where, under the most favorable conditions, they may enjoy good music, clean entertainment, and THE BEST IN MOTION PICTURES.

However, conditions were made such that temporarily we found ourselves HELPLESSLY UNABLE TO OBTAIN SUCH PICTURES as we knew were positively necessary for the complete attainment of our ambitions—this in no way altered our purposes—IT SIMPLY DEFERRED THEIR COMPLETE FULFILLMENT.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Through a mutually desirable arrangement we have effected a happy affiliation with THE WEST COAST THEATRES COMPANY, INCORPORATED, whereby GLENDALE THEATRE BECOMES A "FIRST NATIONAL FRANCHISE HOUSE," AND THE UTMOST IN HIGH-CLASS MOTION PICTURES IS, THEREFORE, FINALLY ASSURED, AND FROM NOW ON WILL BE SHOWN EXCLUSIVELY IN GLENDALE THEATRE. This affiliation changes neither ownership, policy nor management—on the contrary, it furnishes the final detail and places us in position to successfully carry out our original plan in its entirety.

Glendale Theatre, by this arrangement, becomes "a link in the chain" of the strongest amusement organization in the Southwest, already operating forty-six of the finest theatres in Southern California, including the KINEMA and AMBASSADOR theatres in Los Angeles, and the great house to be built at once at Broadway and Mercantile Place, and all pictures shown at these houses will be seen at Glendale Theatre. We take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation of the liberal support already accorded us, and if our efforts of the past seven months, under the most adverse conditions, have proven the sincerity of our desire to please, we state with confident assurance that from now on we entertain no fear as to your continued approval.

"GLEN AND DALE"

The management of the Christian Endeavor convention is incidentally advertising the city of Glendale far and wide throughout the state, as the following letter, sent to every society president and reaching 700 societies and 32,000 Endeavorers, will show:

"Dear Endeavorer:

"Glendale an 'Absolutely convention.' Read why, and then you and your society come and be convinced. Why absolutely? Because: Absolutely the best convention city. Absolutely the best convention committee.

Absolutely the best convention auditorium.

Absolutely the best convention program.

Absolutely the best convention music.

Absolutely the best state president.

And last, but not least, absolutely the best Endeavorers of California are coming.

Now, you say it out loud, like this: "ABSOLUTELY! we'll be there!"

Absolutely yours in C. E.,
